TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

As co-founder and COO of Aptura, I hired Joash as a Project Manager to scale operations for a fixed-term, high-impact period from October to November 2025. Our company works directly with frontier AI models and Joash played a critical role in scaling and refining our data labelling operations to effectively improve AI capabilities.

During his tenure at Aptura, he demonstrated exceptional ability in operational management and scaling complex projects in an extremely compressed timeframe. He was directly responsible for systematically strengthening our operations and handling project management to meet the growing demands of our partnerships with our client.

A key achievement was the successful onboarding and training of over 50+ domain experts both remotely and in person. Furthermore, Joash was instrumental in implementing systems to efficiently track and monitor the performance of our experts, a critical factor in maintaining high data quality and cost considerations required for scaling the company. As Project Manager, he was adept at bridging the gap between technical requirements and commercial objectives. He worked closely with our technology team in the implementation of our platform's dashboard, and his efforts directly translated into a highly productive and quality-driven data pipeline that gave valuable data insights for decision making.

Beyond day-to-day management, Joash consistently provided valuable data and business insights that were pivotal to the company's success. Working with the complex performance metrics and operational data, he was able to identify inefficiencies during the onboarding process and resolved cross-domain bottlenecks, improving onboarding efficiency.

Joash possesses a sharp analytical mind, understanding the direct connection between operational efficiency and the improvement of system processes. He is proactive, highly organized, and has the leadership skills necessary to manage diverse teams and drive projects to successful completion in a high-stakes, innovative environment.

I strongly recommend Joash for any opportunity that requires a dedicated, insightful, and operationally proficient leader. His experience in managing expert teams makes him a uniquely valuable candidate.

I wish Joash all the best in his future endeavors.

Sincerely,
